

Updated COVID-19 Technology Tools and Resources

NAPSG Foundation is pleased to share new tools and resources for the ongoing COVID-19 response.

We continue to work with our partners to curate the latest resources, tools, and guidance for using geospatial information and technology in COVID-19 response. The latest key resources are posted on a dedicated webpage and is further supported by a more comprehensive Esri COVID-19 Hub.

To see a list of the latest resources and access the COVID-19 Hub, please visit: <https://www.napsfoundation.org/resources/covid-19/>.

FEMA Announces Free Access to GIS Software and Licensed Datasets in Response to COVID-19

On March 28, the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) announced that through the DHS Enterprise License Agreement with Esri, DHS/FEMA is able to extend that agreement to non-Federal governmental partners during incidents of national significance, which includes COVID-19.

State, local, tribal and territorial governmental entities can now obtain free access to Esri software for up to 6 months to help respond to COVID-19.

To take advantage of this opportunity, choose "Request Assistance" in the red banner, and then select "COVID-19 Response Package".

This announcement followed a letter from the FEMA Administrator on March 27 to Emergency Managers Requesting Action on Critical Steps in responding to COVID-19

Upcoming Webinar on COVID-19 GIS and Technology

If there is one thing we've learned in the evolving scenarios of COVID-19 public health response, it's that unconventional locations matter. Learn about foundational geospatial data to support disaster response, focused on COVID-19.
